

Lineworker

Posting Date: August 27, 2024

*Are you beginning your career as an electrical lineworker or a seasoned veteran of the trade?
Perhaps somewhere in between?*

Do you want to build and maintain electrical distribution systems and still able to be home each night to be with your family and friends?

Do people look to when there is an emergency? Do you enjoy working outside?

How about a pension with generous benefits including time off?

If this sounds exciting, then working for a municipal utility might be the place for you.

Princeton Public Utilities (PPU) is seeking candidates for a Lineworker. This position performs technical work constructing, maintaining and operating PPU electric distribution lines, substations and related work as apparent or assigned in a safe, reliable, and efficient manner. Lineworkers also provide assistance to ensure that the distribution system remains in compliance with all applicable state and federal and industrial related regulations at all times.

Required: Must be a team player that can also work independently in the field. Must have mechanical and technical aptitude with a knowledge of standard electric utility construction and maintenance practices. Be dependable and able to work in all weather. Values customer confidentiality and serving the community.

Most importantly, have pride in providing reliable electric service to our customers and a desire to help during outages, emergencies, and other events outside of normal business hours as needed.

Any combination of education and experience with standard electric utility construction and maintenance practices:

- High school diploma or equivalent
- Completed a lineworker program
- Previous experience in the construction and maintenance of electrical construction and maintenance.
- Journey certification preferred. Apprentices will be considered.

Hourly Rate: $45.43 / hour (2025 pay scale) for journey lineworkers. Apprentices will be dependent upon experience and qualifications.

Other Details: The Lineworker is part of the Line Crew reporting to the Electrical Superintendent and working alongside other Lineworkers. The Line Crew also assists the Water and Power Plant staff when needed. We have typical field operations where the work hours are 7:00-3:30 Monday through Friday. In addition, Lineworkers are responsible for rotating On-Call shifts which includes holidays and weekends.

Princeton Public Utilities offers competitive pay based on experience and certifications with vacation and holidays, health insurance, and PERA (pension) eligibility.

Application Deadline: Reviews will begin September 6 and the position will remain open until filled.
